

Equipment Relocation and Decommissioning

Providing support for those big decisions

Easing the pain of relocation and decommissioning

You've thought about it long and hard, and the time has come for the big decision, do you relocate your asset or take the final step of decommissioning? Neither are easy decisions, and both have costs involved. Greenray have extensive experience in both specialist areas and are on hand with viable solutions.

Your relocation, smoothly delivered

We've relocated large scale assets from populated areas to the middle of nowhere, without fuss or delay. We have worked on projects covering both Steam and Gas Turbines, including GEC and other derivative packages.

How we can help with relocation

We have the expertise and can provide:

- Planned dismantling of gas and steam turbines
- Preparation for shipping
- Transportation to new location
- Full support during relocation
- Coordinated re-installation at site
- Testing and Re-commissioning
- On-going maintenance packages

Planned projects, with successful outcomes.

Decommissioning, carried out safely

Our team of experts can plan and schedule your decommissioning, to ensure all local compliances are met, giving safety our top priority. We work smarter, by utilising our resources, skills and knowledge, to deliver on-time and on budget, wherever you are.

How we can help with decommissioning

We have valuable knowledge and experience in:

- Local compliance planning
- Dismantling of gas and steam turbines
- Preparation for shipping / movement
- Recovery of recyclable components
- Fleet asset comparison, for reassignment or repair
- GEC OEM approved rejuvenation and repair

A complete service

Our expertise is not limited to the turbine package, we also support control systems and peripherals, to ensure your project is trouble free.
