

Unsupported Control Systems

Breathing new life into your unsupported control system

Our wealth of knowledge

Your control system has been the backbone of your equipment for many years, but over time, avenues of support and maintenance can come to an abrupt stop, leaving you with nowhere to go, just when you need it most.

Our controls team have more than 200 years combined experience and are on hand to assist. We have extensive knowledge and technical expertise when working with the full spectrum of control systems. In fact, our proficiency spans the whole lifecycle, from its initial concept, through its development, to product application and later operational support, leading eventually onto retrofit replacement.

Confidence in capability

We have worked with most leading brand systems including Allen Bradley and Siemens PLC platforms.

Our expertise not only covers Gas Turbines within the UK, but goes beyond, with global coverage.

Greenray are the Advanced Partner to Siemens and the OEM service provider for legacy manufacturers, including GEC and Ruston.

We have the knowledge and passion to keep your system running, giving you many more years of service.

Full support when you need it most.

What's the benefit?

We deliver a solid support capability, based on our teams extensive control experience, in the following areas:

- Extensive product knowledge
- Hardware and Software development
- Governor development
- DLE Control and Improvement
- Commissioning and Technical support

My control system isn't viable, what now?

Unfortunately, some systems can no longer be repaired or reprogrammed, and they become orphaned. When this happens, we can offer:

- Control system design, compatible with your setup
- HMI PC replacement
- Touchscreen replacement

We can provide and install commercially reliable, off the shelf hardware, with the latest in control capability. We can even utilise the existing cabling to make installation smooth and efficient, where possible.

Finding out more is easy, contact us, and we'll give you a dedicated response.
